

Donate or Join the Pack

- California Wolf Center membership:
 - Lone Wolf: $35. Individual +1 guest
 - Wolf Pack: $75. Family of 4
 - Alpha Member: $200. Up to 8 people
 - Wolf Champion: $500. Up to 8 people
 - Wolf Guardian: $1000+
- Make a general donation of $_____.

Membership Benefits:

Lone Wolf & Wolf Pack:

- Free admission to all regularly scheduled Wolf Recovery Today tours
- Discounted admission to other tours & events
- wolf photo, biography & decal
- 15% discount on all gift shop items

In addition to benefits above:

Alpha Member: t-shirt or book or DVD*

Wolf Champion: two Wolf Center hats* and special visitation privileges

Wolf Guardian: permanent name recognition at our center and special visitation privileges *first year only

Visa MC AMEX Discover

Check (payable to California Wolf Center)

Card No. _____ Exp. _____

Signature _____

Name _____

Billing Address _____

City _____ State _____ Zip _____

Phone _____

Email _____

Please mail to PO Box 1389, Julian CA 92036 or donate online at www.californiawolfcenter.org.

Visit Us in Julian

Tours & Education Programs

Private tours: Enjoy individual time with one of our educators. $80/person. 50% discount for members. Available Monday through Friday by appointment.

Wolf Pack Tour: Guided tour, limited to 15 guests. Monday at 10 am and Friday at 2 pm. $30 for adults. $20 for seniors (55+), military, students, and children 12 and under. 50% discount for members. Check in 30 minutes before scheduled start time.

Wolf Recovery Today: Guided tour. Saturday and Sunday at 10 am & 2 pm. $20 for adults. $15 for seniors (55+), military, students, and children 12 and under. FREE for members. Check in 30 minutes before scheduled start time.

Wolf Expeditions! We offer dynamic educational experiences for students K-12 and youth groups. Programs are offered at our center or via live interactive video conferencing. Available Monday through Friday by appointment.

Off-site presentations available throughout CA.

Reservations and parental guidance required for all tours. Pets are not allowed on the premises.

Directions

From 8 East: Exit Highway 79, follow signs toward Julian. About 2.8 miles off the freeway, turn left to stay on Highway 79. Turn right onto KQ Ranch Rd and proceed 1/4 mile.

From points north: Take Highway 78 east through Julian to Highway 79 south toward Lake Cuyamaca. 4 miles south of Julian turn left onto KQ Ranch Road.

Please wait at the California Wolf Center sign for an escort down the private road.

Gifts That Give Back

Can't visit in person? Support wild wolf recovery by checking out the unique items in our online gift shop at www.californiawolfcenter.org/shop.

The California Wolf Center is dedicated to the recovery of wolves in the wildlands they once roamed. We envision a landscape where wolves thrive in healthy ecosystems and wolves and people successfully coexist.

California Wolf Center

Conservation, Education, Research

(760) 765-0030

www.californiawolfcenter.org

info@californiawolfcenter.org

Who We Are

The California Wolf Center is dedicated to the recovery of wolves in the wildlands they once roamed. We envision a landscape where wolves thrive in healthy ecosystems and wolves and people successfully coexist. We accomplish our mission through:

Conservation: partnering with stakeholders to implement proactive solutions that enable wolves and people to successfully share the landscape and leading the way in endangered species recovery programs.

Education: increasing awareness and understanding of wolves through engaging educational programs and public outreach.

Research: studying wolves' biology, behavior, and history in California.

Helping Wolves through Education

The century old fairytale “big bad wolf” continues to haunt wolves today. Many people are amazed by the shy nature and strong family bonds that wolves truly have. The biggest foe that the wolf faces is misunderstanding, so we are dedicated to spreading the truth about wolves. Please see the reverse panel and visit our website for details about educational tours offered at our conservation center and other outreach opportunities.

The Return of Wolves to California

In 2011, California celebrated a landmark step by the wild wolf known to many as Journey, the first gray wolf documented in California in nearly 90 years. This historic event signaled the beginning of what will be one of the most inspiring conservation stories in California: the return of wild wolves after disappearing at the hands of humans. Through our recently established chapter in Northern California, we are devoted to the peaceful return of the wolf to the Golden State's suitable habitats.

Critically Endangered Mexican Gray Wolves

Mexican gray wolves are one of the rarest land mammals on the planet. In 1997, there were only 13 individuals left in the world. Through the Mexican Wolf Species Survival Plan, a group of institutions working to restore Mexican gray wolves to the Southwestern United States and Mexico, the California Wolf Center is committed to these conservation efforts. At our center, we host wolves that may be released into the wild, fulfilling our pledge to prevent extinction!

Sharing the Landscape

Successful coexistence is the ultimate goal of our mission. Without tolerance from those sharing the landscape with wild wolves there will be no wolf recovery as human caused mortality continues to be a leading cause of death for wolves. It is our responsibility to create a space where concerns about wolves can be voiced and discussions can be held regarding solutions. In 2014, we established the California Wolf Fund, a fund with the sole purpose of providing education on the use and implementation of nonlethal proactive solutions to wolf-livestock conflicts. We modeled this fund after our successful Mexican Wolf Fund, formed in 2006 to promote peaceful coexistence between livestock and Mexican gray wolves in the Southwest. The purpose is to avoid conflict before it happens. Through these innovative efforts, we are laying the foundation that will allow wolves to thrive in the wild!

Why Wolves?

Wolves once roamed across the United States, and despite the low threat posed to humans, they were hunted nearly to extinction. Today, thanks to the protection of the Endangered Species Act and organizations like our own, wolves are recovering in some areas. However, their iconic howl is still only heard in a fraction of their historic range. The return of the wolf is more than a need to right past wrongs. The wolf is considered an engineer of biodiversity, meaning they play a critical role in maintaining healthy ecosystems. It is up to us all to recover this significant animal in the wild. Learn more at www.californiawolfcenter.org/education/.

How You Can Help

We need you to ensure a brighter future for wolves. This is not something we can do alone. Help us forge a new path for wild wolf recovery. You can give wolves a voice by rejecting well known myths and fairytales. You can directly support wild wolf recovery by making a tax-deductible donation, purchasing a membership, or shopping in our online store. Please see the form on reverse or visit us online for more information. Thank you for helping restore this iconic symbol of wilderness to our state and beyond!